

BRITSAFE LEVEL 1

AWARD IN PAPERMAKING PROCESS SAFETY MANAGEMENT

106/5251/1

Introduction:

The Britsafe Level 1 Award in Papermaking Process Safety Management is a foundational qualification developed to equip operators, technicians, and safety personnel with core knowledge of process safety principles specific to the papermaking industry. Focused on high-risk areas such as pulp handling, chemical dosing, steam systems, and mechanical operations, this course provides essential insights into hazard identification, control implementation, and incident prevention in continuous manufacturing environments. Learners explore key topics including combustible dust risks, confined space entry, energy isolation, and human-machine interaction, all contextualized within regulatory expectations and industry best practices. Designed for those beginning their roles in paper mills or supporting functions, the qualification fosters safety-critical awareness, promotes compliance, and supports the development of a prevention-driven operational culture.

Qualification Regulation and Support:

The Britsafe Level 1 Award in Papermaking Process Safety Management has been developed and is awarded by Britsafe™ Qualifications UK Limited. It is governed by Britsafe's internal quality assurance procedures and qualification development standards. This award ensures alignment with recognized workplace safety regulations and industry expectations. It supports the development of competence in high-risk papermaking process environments.
